

Transcript: DawsonEra ebooks

You can find the Dawsonera platform in the 'Database A-Z' list.

If you are working off-campus, click Sign in and then choose Shibboleth login. Choose GSA from the list of organisations, then enter your GSA username and password.

Click ebook catalogue to view all the books that are available to read. Make sure you've selected to read only books owned by the GSA Library.

Use the search box to search for titles, keywords or authors, or browse by category. Refine your results using the left hand menu.

Use the star to add books to your bookshelf.

Any book on the DawsonEra platform will have restrictions about what you can do with the content. You can usually download books for a limited time – choose how long you think you will need it and which device reader you want to use. After that period has ended, the file will disappear from your device.

If you want to print a section, you will need to use the Read Online view.

The amount of pages you can print and copy is determined by the length of the book

In the Read Online view, you can make notes and export these to a text file or share them with other users.

Contact the library if you have any questions about our electronic resources.
